

Five Primary Tonal Themes

Silence

encompasses language and symbolizes the under-appreciated, underdeveloped depths of the Invisible, represented by the latency of the

Language

represents the dominating rational worldview which is governed by our

Right

Hemisphere

which controls the

Left

Hemisphere

which controls the

Left Hand

that generates the

Right Hand

the dominant controlling defining hand that holds pen in hand and writes the

Image

and invests it with color, animation, and movement, typified by the

Word

which as text represents the world and stops history, is stable, and is typified by the

Verb

which represents going, change, movement

Noun

which represents stopping, stability, permanence