

Motto of the Two Hands Approach

Not too much, not too little – just in the middle.

Not too many big words, not too few - just in the middle.

Not too little formal language, not too much formal language - just in the middle.

Not too little casual language, not too much casual language - just in the middle.

Not too few commas, not too many commas - just in the middle.

Not too few semi-colons, not too many semi-colons - just in the middle.

Not too few dashes, especially not too many dashes - just in the middle.

Not too few long sentences, not too many long sentences - just in the middle.

Not too few Latin or Greek words, not too many Latin or Greek words - just in the middle.

Not paragraphs that are too short, not paragraphs that are too long - just in the middle.
